“I first used Sontronics’ mics in the summer of 2005 – I had a HELIOS, ORPHEUS and an OMEGA. The first time I put them to work was during an opera recording. I used them in various ways, recording with string quartet, piano and vocal. I set up the session using tried and trusted mics as well as the Sontronics ones, and in a blind test I ended up choosing the Sontronics, simply because they sounded better to me.

“In particular the HELIOS impressed me on vocals when working with the singer really close. It didn’t have the annoying sibilance that the other mics were revealing.

“I’m looking forward to using the mics again on the next record for Laura Pausini (a Grammy-winning Italian diva I’m working with at the moment) and in particular on her voice. She has the loudest voice I have ever had to deal with!”
